Flying Leaf Op 123 No 10 by Spindler

What does the title mean?

It is a pictorial title. This piece is from a book called Blatter und Bluten which means Leaves and Blossoms. The flying leaf is like the leaves that fly off the tress in Autumn, when the wind turns. You can hear this in the music in the RH quaver scalic passages that rise and fall.

What keys are in this piece?
Bar 1 C major
Bar 16 modulates to G major
Bar 20 modulates back to C major to the end.

The other accidentals (not F#) are just decorative passing notes.

Notation:
Vivace - lively and spirited
3/4 - simple triple - 3 crotchet beats per bar
Mf - mezzo forte - moderately loud
Diminuendo - gradually getting softer
Piano - soft
Crescendo - gradually getting louder
Staccato - short and detached
Mezzo staccato - moderately short and detached (staccato with slur)
Slur - play legato - smooth and well-connected
Accent - play the note loudly
Sharp - raise the note a semitone
Natural - cancel the sharp or flat
8va - play the notes an octave higher
F - forte - loud
Flat - lower the note a semitone
Fermata - pause, hold the note longer than written
Pp - pianissimo - very soft
Pedal - use the damper/sustain pedal
Tie - hold the note for the combined values